

FEDERAL INTERFERENCE

Washington, Feb. 3.—The federal government has refused to help by the federal government, Governor Taylor will appeal to the federal courts. He will today ask Judge Evans for a writ of injunction restraining Goebel from acting as governor.

This course was decided upon here early this morning at a conference of republican attorneys. Bradley will probably lead the argument before Judge Evans.

The petition will set forth these chief points: That Taylor undoubtedly had a majority of the votes cast at the late election. That his political opponents when officially called upon, so decided. That any attempt of the democratic legislature to unseat him would be a usurpation of power and unconstitutional and that the declaration that Goebel was governor, made by the democratic legislature in the interim, was illegal; that he had power to adjourn the legislature as he deemed that an insurrection existed, and he alone, as governor, had power to judge of said insurrection.

Acting Governor Beckham

Lieutenant Governor Beckham will today be acting governor in place of Goebel. A physician's certificate was made out last night declaring that Governor Goebel would be unable for some time to exercise his powers.

Beckham will at once exercise the powers of governor. The first appointment will probably be Castleman as adjutant general. Democratic leaders state positively that Castleman will accept.

Goebel's Condition.

The attending physicians this morning reported that Governor Goebel was resting quietly. His general condition shows a distinct improvement.

Goebel Worse.

FRANKFORT, 2:21 p. m., Feb. 3.—Governor Goebel is worse this morning and is in extreme danger of dying.

Injunction Granted.

On the petition of the Goebel government, Judge Cantrell has granted the order of injunction restraining Governor Taylor and General Collier from interfering with the legislature, and prohibiting the holding of the session at London next week, as ordered by Governor Taylor.

"I think I would go crazy with pain were it not for Chamberlain's Pain Balm," writes Mr. W. H. Stapleton, Harrisburg, Pa. "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for several years and have tried remedies without number, but Pain Balm is the best medicine I have got hold of." One application relieves the pain. For sale by Hannah Bros., 21 S. Palafax street.

Jack and the Beanstalk.

The coming of the famous extravaganza "Jack and the Beanstalk" to the opera house next Monday night will be looked upon as affording one of the most interesting, complete and original productions. This remarkable combination of spectacle and extravaganza has been widely heralded through its long and record-breaking engagements in Boston, New York and other cities; indeed its first season's tour was limited to engagements in but three or four cities, while last season its travels were confined to the principal of the larger cities. The metropolitan engagements will be limited to a few weeks in each city. It is almost superfluous to say that "Jack and the Beanstalk" is the work of Barnet and Sloane and was originally produced by the Boston cadets. It is doubtful if any stage production has been accorded so much and such unvarying praise as this. From New York, Boston, Philadelphia and elsewhere have come descriptions of splendor and acknowledgments of rare achievements of individual performers and of those employed in the mechanical department.

HEALTH CASE STILL IN DOUBT

Weeks, Robert, Charles, and William, who were arrested in the case of the recovery of the contents of the safe of the late Governor Taylor, are still in the hands of the law. The case is still in doubt.

WILL APPEAL TO COURTS.

FRANKFORT, Feb. 3.—Having been refused help by the federal government, Governor Taylor will appeal to the federal courts. He will today ask Judge Evans for a writ of injunction restraining Goebel from acting as governor.

THE CLARK CASE.

But the same is not true in the case of Senator Clark, who is resisting the charges of bribery brought in connection with his election. No one can tell when that case will end. There seems to be no end to the number of witnesses and extensive examination of them. There are adjournments from time to time to secure more witnesses, but for the most part the committee on privileges and elections has been very industrious, beginning early in the morning and continuing even while the senate is in session. After the testimony is all in there will be an elaborate summarizing and argument by the attorneys. Then the committee will have to go through the testimony, digest it and reach a conclusion. Reports will have to be prepared and made to the senate. This will be followed by the speeches and arguments in the senate and with unlimited debate. In case there is a division of opinion this discussion will take up a great deal of time. It can easily be seen that the present session of congress will be far advanced before the senate reaches a decision in the Montana case.

THE MISSOURI SENATORS.

The Missouri senators were once political rivals. Both were candidates for the senate when Mr. Cockrell was elected. Mr. Vest was elected four years later and will leave the senate after serving 24 years, while Cockrell is already elected for two years' service beyond Vest's retirement and will then have 39 years to his credit. "Cockrell will serve longer than any man elected to the senate," remarked Champ Clark. "In Missouri it will simply be a case of the prolongation of his life, for the people like him better than any other man in the state. He can get 10,000 votes from the Republicans. There are many old soldiers in Missouri and many of them have got pensions through the untiring efforts of Senator Cockrell. He never neglects any one. Every man who writes to him receives a letter written by him self. It may be nine months in coming, but when it is received it is in the senator's handwriting."

ROBBED THE GRAVE.

A startling incident of which Mr. John Oliver of Philadelphia was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters,' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents per bottle at W. A. D'Alemberte's Drug Store.
